Allamanda cathartica, commonly called golden trumpet,^[2] common trumpetvine,^[2] and yellow allamanda,^[2] is a species of flowering plant of the genus Allamanda in the family Apocynaceae. It is native to Brazil. This plant is cited in Flora Brasiliensis by Carl Friedrich Philipp von Martius.

It does not twine, nor does it have tendrils or aerial roots. It can be pruned into a shrub form. If not pruned it can sprawl to a height of 20 feet.^[3]

The city of Canóvanas, Puerto Rico has adopted this species, known locally as canario amarillo, as its official flower.^[4]

Introduction

For both, the teacher and student alike, this Spanish I book is intended for a first-year, college Elementary Spanish I level. It also attempts to make the study of a language in this case, Spanish, more than another required subject. Eliminating the artificial limitation of the traditional textbook, offers the teacher and the student the ability to tailor the content to their own needs. Also, this book tries to show the value of learning a second language from a high quality pedagogical criteria at a low cost solution.

Features include:

- Clearly defined objectives in communication, culture, and grammar are given at the start of each chapter, and summary exercises.
- Many activities are provided in a practical context in which to practice.
- Concise grammar explanations address the level of language acquisition for non-major language students. Carefully chosen communicative goals focus on low to intermediate ACTFL oral proficiency skills.
- The book recycles material on a regular basis to encourage the student to see the value of continual learning progression rather than testability.

COGNATES AND PRONUNCIATION PRACTICE

PRACTÍCALO

Some words in Spanish are long and might have some letters combinations that you are not familiar or are not found in the English language.

Syllables are important for knowing how the letters combine together for correct pronunciation, as well as when a word may need an orthographic accent or not.

As often as possible, create each syllable with a consonant followed by a vowel.

sá'-ba-do

ma'-no

ca'-ra

The cognates list below, will facilitate the pronunciation in Spanish and help you identify some words you already know from their English counterparts.

*Cognates are words in two languages that share a similar meaning, spelling, and pronunciation.

A table that displays pronunciation examples of spanish words, broken up into syllables

fa-bu-lo-so	de-li-cio-so
ma-ra-vi-llo-so	ner-vi-o-so

cu-rio-so	re-li-gi-o-so
po-pu-lar	fu-rio-so
fan-tás-ti-co	a-par-ta-men-to

PRACTÍCALO

What is the most important name in the world?

Write your first name and look for the name of each letter.

Spell your name in Spanish.

Ejemplo: ¿Como te llamas?

Me llamo Anita. A-ene-i-te-a.

¿Cómo te llamas?

Topic 1 Gender and Number of Definite and Indefinite Articles

GÉNERO Y NÚMERO DE LOS ARTÍCULOS

The English language has two kinds of articles.

A table that shows the two kinds of english articles, followed by an example of the article.

Definite Article	The Spanish book.	The red apple.
Indefinite Article (any)	A book.	An apple.

The Spanish language has the two articles as well, but they are characterized:

- by gender and number
- both articles, definite or indefinite, must agree with the noun.

El libro verde.

El is the definite article, libro is the noun, verde is the adjective, very specific.

Notice that all three, the article, the noun, and the adjective are masculine/singular.

Un libro.

Un is the indefinite article, libro is the noun.

Notice that both, the indefinite article and the noun, are masculine/singular.

Los libros verdes.

Los is the definite article, libros is the noun, verdes is the adjective, very specific.

Notice that all three, the definite article, the noun and the adjective are masculine/plural.

A table that displays definite and indefinite articles for gender singular and gender plural.

Article	Gender Singular	Gender Plural
DEFINITE	el/la (the)	los/las
INDEFINITE	un/una (a,an)	unos, unas

Topic 2 Gender and Number of the Nouns

GÉNERO Y NÚMERO DE LOS SUSTANTIVOS (NOMBRES)

A noun is a person, place, or thing. In Spanish, nouns are characterized by

- gender and number;
- in the case of gender, nouns, are NOT perceived by Spanish speakers as having male or female attributes;
- it is just a grammatical feature, masculine or feminine, singular or plural.

Chapter 3

Pronouns, Ser, Estar, Interrogative Words and Gustar

Learning Objectives

Communication (what students will be able to do):

By the end of this chapter, students will be able to:

- Describe and write about yourself and others by applying and correctly using the rules of:
 - The verb Ser
 - The verb Estar
 - The verb Gustar
- Increase Spanish vocabulary about personal characteristics, professions and related words.
- Communicate by asking and answering basic questions.

Culture (what students will know about the Spanish-speaking world):

- Identify demographic and cultural information about
 - Venezuela
 - Colombia
 - Ecuador
 - Perú

Topic 1 Subject Pronouns

PRONOMBRES DEL SUJETO

A table that displays first, second, and third person subject pronouns for both singular and plural. Followed by the Spanish translation of the subject pronoun

1st Person Singular	I	1ra Persona Singular	yo
2nd Person Singular	you	2da Persona Singular	tú
3rd Person Singular	he, she, it	3ra Persona Singular	*usted, él, ella
1st Person Plural	we	1ra Persona Plural	nosotros/as
3rd Person Plural	they	3ra Persona Plural	*ustedes, ellos/as

- There is NOT a subject pronoun for IT
- Usted and ustedes are commonly abbreviated in writing, ud and uds. They are NOT interchangeable.
- Tú is the familiar form used when addressing friends, relatives, children, animals or anyone with whom you are on a first-name basis.
- Usted is the formal form used to address people for the first time, in business situations, and with someone you might not know well.
- The verbs system in Spanish indicates person, number, and tense, therefore pronouns are usually omitted.
- When used, pronouns are used to:
 - show emphasis = Yo tengo el libro. I have the book.
 - clarify ambiguity on the third person forms =
 - Ella tiene el libro. She has the book.
 - Ellos tienen el libro. They have the book.

SECTION III: THE SPANISH VERBS

Chapter 4 Spanish Verbs

Chapter 4

Spanish Verbs

Learning Objectives

Communication (what students will be able to):

By the end of this chapter, students will be able to:

- Identify, conjugate and apply the rules of the 4 different kinds of verbs in the present tense.
 - The regular verbs
 - The irregular verbs
 - The stem-changing verbs
 - The reflexive verbs

Culture (what students will know about the Spanish-speaking world):

- Identify demographic and cultural information about Bolivia, Chile y Argentina.

Topic 1 Present Tense of Regular Verbs

LOS VERBOS REGULARES Y EL PRESENTE

Present Tense of Regular Verbs

A table that displays the present tense of regular verbs and the appropriate ending

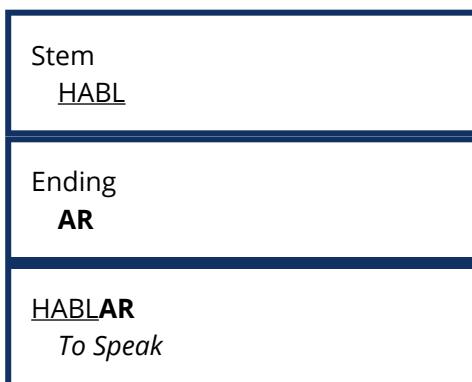

Pronoun -ar -er -ir

yo	-o	-o	-o
tú	-as	-es	-es
Ud./él/ella	-a	-e	-e
nosotros	-amos	-emos	-imos
Uds./ellos/as	-an	-en	-en

The anatomy of a Spanish verb.

The verb in its infinitive form indicates the action or state of being, with no reference to who or what performs the action or when it is done (present, past or future tense).

- The verb has two parts
 - The stem
 - The ending

- Infinitives in English are indicated by to: to speak, to eat, to live. In Spanish, all verbs in the infinitive have three endings:

- -ar Hablar to speak
- -er Comer to eat
- -ir Vivir to live

- To conjugate a verb means to give the various forms of the verb the corresponding subject:
 - I speak, you speak, he/she speaks, etc.
Yo hablo, tú hablas, él/ella habla, etc.
 - I eat, you eat, he/she eats, etc.
Yo como, tú comes, él/ella come, etc.
 - I live, you live, he/she lives, etc.
Yo vivo, tú vives, él/ella vive, etc.
- There are three classifications of verbs.
 - Regular
when conjugated into a person or tense, the stem is not impacted
 - Irregular
when conjugated, first person singular has a "g" or a "y"
 - Stem-Changing
when conjugated, there are changes IN the stem
- The conjugated verbs in Spanish indicate person and tense, therefore, a personal pronoun is not needed unless you need to clarify the subject:
él, ella, ellos/as.

Topic 4 Reflexive Verbs

LOS VERBOS REFLEXIVOS

A table that displays reflexive pronouns.
Yo	me
Tú	te
Ud./él/ella	se
Nosotros	nos
Uds./ellos/as	se

Reflexive pronouns and verbs

- In the Spanish language there is a kind of verbs called the reflexive verbs
- These verbs have an object pronoun called the reflexive pronoun that indicates the same person as the subject
- Reflexive verbs are characterized by having the reflexive pronoun “se” attached to the end of a verb in the infinitive such as:
 1. acostarse (to go to bed) acostarSE stem-changing verb/-ar ending
 2. dormirse (to fall to sleep) dormirSE stem-changing verb/-ir ending
 3. despertarse (to awake) despertarSE stem-changing verb/-ar ending
 4. levantarse (to get up from) levantarSE regular verb/-ar ending
- The reflexive pronoun se must agree with the subject of the verb.
- The reflexive pronoun precedes the conjugated verb in the simple tense.

Checklist for acostarse

verb ending ⇒
 -ar (o, as, a, amos, an)
 kind of verb ⇒ stem-changing from o to ue
 person ⇒ yo, tú, Ud./él/ella, nosotros, Uds./ellos/as

Me acuesto, te acuestas, se acuesta, nos acostamos, se acuestan temprano (early).

Checklist for dormirse:

verb ending ⇒
 -ir (o, es, e, imos, en)
 kind of verb ⇒ stem-changing from o to ue
 person ⇒ yo, tú, Ud./él/ella, nosotros, Uds./ellos/as

Me duermo, te duermes, se duerme, nos dormimos, se duermen tarde (late)

Checklist for despertarse:

verb ending ⇒
 -ar (o, as, a, amos, an)
 kind of verb ⇒ stem-changing from e to ie person ⇒ yo, tú, Ud./él/ella, nosotros, Uds./ellos/as

Me despierto, te despiertas, se despierta, nos despertamos, se despiertan temprano (early).

Checklist for levantarse

verb ending ⇒
 -ar (o, as, a, amos, an) kind of verb ⇒ regular person ⇒ yo, tú, Ud./él/ella, nosotros, Uds./ellos/as

Me levanto, te levantas, se levanta, nos levantamos, se levantan temprano (early).

- Most reflexive verbs can be used as non-reflexive.
 - Yo despierto a mi hermano por las mañanas. I wake up my brother in the mornings.
 - Yo me despierto temprano. I wake up early.

- The se of the infinitive must agree with the subject of the verb when using two verbs. For example, dormirse.
 - Me quiero dormir/Quiero dormirme.

I want to fall to sleep.

Remember that in Spanish the reflexive pronoun reflects the subject doing something to or for himself, herself, or itself. Many English verbs that describe one's daily routine are expressed in Spanish with a reflexive construction.

PRACTÍCALO...

Using the following questions and verbs, form complete sentences using reflexive verbs to tell your best friend what you do every day.

¿Cuál es tu rutina diaria?

What is your daily routine?

¿Qué haces todas las mañanas?

What do you do every morning?

¿Qué haces todas las noches?

What do you do every night?

A table that displays spanish reflexive verbs, and the english translation.
